EARLY MODERN PRINTS FROM THE LOW COUNTRIES IN ITALIAN COLLECTIONS

From the 16th century, the print sector increasingly benefited from the cultural and trade networks between the Low Countries and Italy. A dynamic of international partnerships arose between engravers and print publishers. Numerous Antwerp and Amsterdam (print) publishers did business in Rome, appealing to art dealers, agents and other correspondents. In this way, innumerable high-end prints by artists from the Low Countries eventually found their way to Italian collectors, whose diverse albums of prints still sit unrecognized on library shelves.

In 2017, the Academia Belgica, in collaboration with the Royal Netherlands Institute in Rome, launched a research project on early modern prints from the Low Countries in Italian collections. The funds of Flemish and Dutch prints, preserved in the Biblioteca Angelica, the Biblioteca Apostolica Vaticana, the Biblioteca Casanatense and the Biblioteca Corsiniana were catalogued in an extensive digital database by a group of young researchers. The AB and the KNIR are organizing this symposium to present this valuable research tool.
